WRR presents The Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra live from Bass Performance Hall Friday, Aug. 24

To kick off its 2007-2008 season, the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra will present an incredibly ambitious project - a Great Performances Festival featuring Gustav Mahler. This is the first of a three-year cycle the FWSO will offer dedicated to Mahler, one of the most important figures in 20th Century Western music and a genius conductor who led revolutionary changes in both orchestral repertoire and opera.

WRR will be live at Bass Performance Hall Friday, Aug. 24 to broadcast Mahler's monumental Symphony #1, the "Titan." Acclaimed maestro Miguel Harth-Bedoya will conduct. The host for the evening will be WRR Evening Concert announcer Kevin Sutton. The concert starts at 7:30 p.m. At 7 p.m., WRR will air an informative pre-show feature offering background about Mahler with popular concert commentator Dr. Carol Reynolds.

Join WRR and the FWSO live from the Bass Performance Hall for an unforgettable evening of Mahler Friday, Aug. 24 beginning at 7 p.m.
